The Opportunity

Our Indigenous Relations team is looking to add a Manager, Indigenous Participation to our growing team in Calgary, AB. Reporting to the Senior Manager, Indigenous Participation this position is an integral part of TC Energy's Indigenous Relations team and will be charged with the development and execution of our Indigenous reconciliation and Indigenous participation initiatives with Indigenous Communities and organizations.

This role will also be responsible for the management of reporting and communication initiatives; the management of departmental budgets; the ongoing development and the expansion of Indigenous participation outreach programming; supporting the development and implementation of project outreach and communication plans; supporting the communication of key messages and project details to Indigenous Communities, internal and external stakeholders in key regions within company service territory; and ensuring consistency and collaboration across the service territory.

In March of 2021, TC Energy released a Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP) with six measurable goals towards advancing reconciliation between Indigenous and non-Indigenous peoples in North America. This role will be responsible for translating the spirit and intent of the RAP within the Canadian context and building our reputation in how we engage with Indigenous Peoples.

What you'll do

- Lead a team that will support strategies to involve Indigenous communities in across Canada and garner support from internal clients
- Provide a single point of contact for on-site issues related to commitments made under Project(s) Indigenous Participation Program; additional activities will include participation in, and support of, issues related to the Project's engagement with Indigenous Communities
- Monitor, review and support the subcontracting efforts of CGL Prime contractors with respect to the involvement of Indigenous communities (this includes accountability for the resolution of on-site disputes relating to the companies Indigenous Participation Program)
- Assist with the development of communication materials for Indigenous and local communities and contractors to support the Indigenous Participation Program
- Build relationships with Indigenous Communities in key regions within company service territory
- Actively support teams with the execution of solutions that address Indigenous Communities concerns
- Represent the company in both Indigenous Communities and public settings in a professional and skillful manner
- Collaborate with Indigenous Relations team members and business unit counterparts and leaders to prioritize and manage business objectives and risks
- Ensure consistency of messaging between various internal and external audiences, representing TCE interests
- Serve on TCE's on-call roster for emergency call-out

Minimum Qualifications

- Post-Secondary education in a related discipline
- 10 years of industry experience
- Proven experience engaging with Indigenous Communities and working with representatives and community members to resolve complex and often contentious issues
- Knowledge of the federal and provincial regulatory processes and consultation guidelines, particularly as they are related to the energy industry in Canada
- Experience developing strategic relationships and partnerships

Preferred Qualifications

- Previous experience working in the energy sector and/or midstream energy industry related to pipeline or other large-scale industry/projects
- 2 years' experience at the Manager level
- Direct experience and in-depth knowledge of Indigenous Relations issues, concerns and approaches to create opportunities to generate mutual benefit

This position requires candidates to:

- Travel to other locations for meetings or training (estimated up to 50% of work schedule on a monthly basis), including staying overnight away from home
- Be part of an on-call rotation and provide emergency support as required
